

ABSTRACT

5 The invention concerns bacterial strains capable of enhanced transformation efficiencies that are produced by the introduction of the F' genetic material. The invention also concerns processes for producing transformable competent bacteria with enhanced transformation efficiencies.